ADIFO's ERP

Business applications for the entire agricultural industry

Vision

Companies which work in the "From Feed to Food Chains" field experience the challenge of constantly-changing market conditions and the increasingly high demands of their customers. Practical, vertical, sector-oriented software packages highly contribute to your results and to the value you offer to your customers.

For feed and food companies, the best IT solutions are vertical, sector-oriented packages, in which the programs interact intensively in order to achieve the greatest possible yield. Within the branch, Adifo has already delivered a large number of Enterprise Resource Program packages under the name of MILAS and it will continue to do so in the future. This strategy has proven its worth through its highly sector-oriented and business-oriented approach. A new version will be published in the near future and additional modifications will be made to the program during the upcoming period. This is the ideal solution for a professional animal feed company.

" All your operating processes visualised and optimised: power + simplicity "

What is MILAS?

MILAS is an industry-specific ERP solution, designed for the feed, food and livestock industry. This specialised software has been developed for agricultural production and trade organisations (feed, flour mills, slaughterhouses, livestock breeders and traders, ...). MILAS is fully aligned with the specific manufacturing and trading processes of the feed and food industry. This tool supports the European Community regulations for the whole food supply chain. MILAS has been developed on the most modern platform.

MILAS: what does it bring?

MILAS integrates all company processes. Is your company large or small, are several functions combined in a single person? Every function within your company will benefit from this package. Each department always has access to the latest information, and every employee receives precisely the information he/she needs.

MILAS: Key features

MILAS: Key benefits

- MILAS = specialised ERP for Feed, Food and Livestock business processes
- Most ERP system are only production- or factory-oriented. MILAS is also sales-oriented. It is the most elaborate solution for managing your customer data. Detailed reports optimise your sales strategy
- MILAS not only focusses on delivering your products to your customers in the best operational practice. Thanks to its integration with BESTMIX feed optimisation software and BESTMIX ration calculation software it enables you to finetune your offers and services to your customers' needs.
- MILAS is flexible and easy to adapt to changing demands
- MILAS can be used as vertical add-on for horizontal solutions, such as SAP, JDEdwards or Dynamics, allowing implementations on agro-business processes and thus avoiding the cost of customising your generic solution
- Fast and easy implementation
- Low TCO due to rich experience in web interface

Loyalty towards customers

Since its establishment in 1974, Adifo has focussed on optimal co-operation with its customers. It is Adifo's policy to maintain long-term partnerships with its customers. High-tech solutions are made in close consultation with the industry, thus optimising your profits. Adifo and its staff guarantee vertical branch-oriented software and services as a solid basis for creating added value.

Best of 2 worlds

As to meet the current market expectations and to guarantee to our customers the continuity of their ERP software, ADIFO has started a strategic partnership with MICROSOFT. This will give Adifo the opportunity to research and develop in an IT standard platform, and to provide an optimal combination of the advantages of a horizontal ERP package with the business-specific advantages of a vertical software.
